GIFTS TO COLLEGES.

"Never in the history of American colleges," observed the Chicago Record-Herald, "have they experienced such a shower of benefactions as in the month that has just closed," and it goes on to prove its statement by giving the following list of the benefactions announced at the recent commencement:

Washington university, St. Louis, $5,000,000.
Brown, $2,000,000.
Yale, $1,667,000.
Harvard, $1,462,075.
Stranahan university, $533,000.
Beloit, $350,000.
Princeton, $320,000.
Cornell, $310,000.
Columbia, $231,507.
Milliken university, $150,000.
Vassar, $120,000.
Smith college, $101,000.
Teachers' college, $100,000.
Williams, $80,000.
Kenyon college, $50,000.
University of Illinois, $50,000.
Fargo college, $50,000.
Whitman college, Washington, $50,000.
McKendree college, Lebanon, Ill., $50,000.
Lafayette, $30,000.
Bethany college, Lindsborg, Kan., $25,000.
Fairmount college, Wichita, Kan., $25,000.
Drury college, Springfield, Mo., $25,000.
Tuskegee, $25,000.
Middlebury, $12,500.
Total, $12,817,082.

The Boston Transcript says: "Socially and politically, anything that aids education helps to solve the great problem of keeping a democracy democratic, which is always present in a community in which final authority rests on the masses. Anything that helps to keep the diffusion of knowledge among the people continuous, unbroken, abundant, helps to perpetuate the republic. These gifts will go to organize no other aristocracy than that of intellect and worth that is essential to the well being of a democracy."

OF IRON ORE.

OFFICE BUILDING AT GRAND RIVERS BEING REMODELED.
Mr. Rodney Davis left today for Grand Rivers with a force of men to put a slate roof on the office of the Grand Rivers company and the form. The work will require about a week.

The office building is one of the most unique in the world, and is said to be the only one in existence built entirely of iron ore.
It was constructed several years ago by Col. Thomas Lawson, now of Boston, and was made according to his own plans, costing $15,000. It has not been used for many years, but will be renovated, remodeled and used as an office by the company that is developing Grand Rivers. It is a building that is well worth seeing, and was formerly a great curiosity in that section, and people used to go miles to see it.

Science has found that rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. This poison should be excreted by the kidneys. FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE always makes them well. J. C. Gilbert.

DEATH IN MARSHALL.
Mrs. Lucinda Ray, aged 88, died Saturday evening at her home in Marshall county from old age after an illness of several days from malarial fever. She leaves four sons and three daughters. The remains were buried yesterday at the family burying ground.

Mr. John Tipton, Colton, O., says: "FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR cured my little girl of a severe cough and inflamed tonsils." J. C. Gilbert.

MAYFIELD PRISONERS.
There are now few prisoners in the Mayfield jail. Only nine in all is the roster, 23 whites and three blacks.

WHAT TWO CENTS WILL DO.
It will bring relief to sufferers from asthma or consumption, even in the worst cases. This is about what one dose of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR costs. Isn't it worth a trial? J. C. Gilbert.

GRAVES COUNTY PEOPLE MARRY.
D. L. Duke and Miss Anna Bridges, of Mayfield, went to Dresden, Tenn., and were married. The marriage was an elopement on account of the objections of the young lady's parents. She is 20 and he is 50.

The greatest healer of modern times is BANNER SALVE for cuts, wounds, sores, piles and all skin diseases. It is guaranteed. Use no substitute.
J. C. Gilbert.

MEET AGAIN THIS AFTERNOON.
The building committee of the Odd Fellows will meet again this afternoon and probably award the contract for the construction of the new home on Broadway. There has been a hitch heretofore in awarding the contract but it will probably be settled this afternoon.

Thos. W. Carter of Ashboro, N. C., had kidney trouble and one bottle of FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE effected a perfect cure and he says there is no remedy that will compare with it. J. C. Gilbert.

EVENTIDE.

Up twilight ways the cattle slowly come:
The eventide.
Mid moon and balm of dusky calm,
Through bordered lanes where roses hide,
Where bobwhites call from meadows wide.
The far off bells steal soft and low,
Like fairy tinkles come and go,
Then die in silence quite away,
As slowly fades the waning day.

The gold hath paled from out the western sky:
The eventide.
At pasture bars two ling'ring are,
When loitering kine make milking late,
Chiding for one who surely waits,
But one ne'er heads when lovers' eyes
Gleam bright as stars in evening skies,
And jeweled moments fleeting are,
When trying at the pasture bar.

The mellow bells grow fainter, fainter still:
The eventide.
To think that bells at gloaming heard
Can bring from our forgotten days
Voices and forms from vanished days:
That dead regrets can rise again,
With old time longing and its pain:
That 'twas I who lingered long ago
By pasture bars in twilight glow.

—Winfield L. Scott.

Observationsat Random

"Judge," declared a colored woman who had called to tell her troubles to Judge Sanders the other day, "I've a pore, had workin' cullud woman, an' I knows when I dies I've goin' straight to hellben."

"Is that so?" inquired the judge.
"How do you know for certain? If I was that certain of salvation I wouldn't worry much."
"How does it know?" she repeated.
"I jee' knows kase I knows. I'll sho go to hellben de good Lawd aint two faceted."

Captain Joe Fowler says that unless there is some rain soon, the river will fry out. It is rapidly reaching a low water stage, and in time the boats will have to lay up.
"If the river dries up this fall, it can't freeze this winter, can it captain?" he was asked.
"Well, I reckon not," he replied.
"But it reminds me of the man who went to Dr. Brooks and said: 'Doctor, I'm drinkin' too much. If I keep it up, what will be the result?'
"You keep it up, and it'll kill you as dead as I," the doctor told him.
"Well, suppose I quit?" ventured the caller.
"That'll kill you dead as I—too," he was informed.
"So either way we look at it we are in a pretty bad fix."

Captain Harry Johnston and Lieutenant J. R. Dorris, of the N. C. and St. L., continue to spend their vacation in a manner befitting gentlemen of their capacity for enjoyment.

Nashville, July 23.—Chaperoned Harry out to the state prison today. I asked him to change his look but he couldn't do it, and as a result the guard came within an ace of locking him in one of the cells through mistake. It required great diplomacy on my part to save him. He says it is expecting too much to ask him to change anything but his collar.

Nashville, July 23, 6 p. m.—Took Harry out to see Chattanooga and Nashville play ball. It was a hum article. Only 11 to 2 in favor of Nashville. Harry rooted for the Nashville team and I was for Chattanooga. I guess that's the reason they got beat. I have turned Harry over to the chief of police.

Nashville, July 23.—We went to a restaurant and Harry called for "trampers and digesters." These are country waiters and they couldn't cut her. We are still waiting for "trampers." Harry is still getting off that old "Why is a cocktail?" joke.

GOV. BECKHAM DORRIS.
There were more drunken men and more difficulties as a result of the same yesterday, according to the police, than in many years. "It seemed to me," one well known official remarked, "that everybody who drank intoxicating liquors were 'full' yesterday. There were several runaways and small fights but only one that was of any serious nature. Many young bloods had buggies and beer and would drive out into the country to imbibe the beer and have a jolly good time. About 11 o'clock they began to turn in and of all the 'nooky' looking men, I never saw a worse looking crowd."

ILL FROM CONGESTION.
Mr. Chas. Davis, the well known organist, is ill at his home corner Sixth and Monroe streets. His condition was not so favorable yesterday but is somewhat improved today. He is suffering from congestion.

LETTERS OF JENNY LIND. The famous "Swedish Nightingale" who made such a sensation between 1851 and 1853, and who was the first to introduce popular music into America, has been published. For Jenny Lind never hesitated to express her opinions freely; she would sometimes condemn composers, vocalists and others who stood high in the world's esteem. Long before Wagner had been famous, Jenny Lind expressed strong ideas respecting his genius and what she considered his defects. Her predictions as to the Belshazzar musician have been fulfilled. Some of these letters, when published, will give much pleasure to readers, but, although frank and outspoken, they are not unkindly.

Never Attain to His Ideal.
Talking to some British art students the other day, Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema said: "There is never a picture that leaves my studio which I am not glad to see taken away. I have grown sick in trying to obtain what I have been looking for, but never quite succeeded in effecting."

THE SUN'S DAILY STORY.

AN ANTI-MICROBE CRUSADE.

By KATHERINE SMITH Copyright, 1901, by the Daily Story Pub. Co.

It was appendicitis season. We were simple folks and not fashionable, and so did not fall into the hands of the surgeon, but Maria said this was due to her extreme caution in selecting food for our table.

"Appendicitis," said Maria with a sort of differential look, "has been here all the time only, like the bacilli and microbes, we did not know it. Now we do, or are liable to have it."

It was the time of fruits. God's own gift to nature, but we ate no grapes, strawberries or currants for fear of their being diseased, and for appendicitis. It was this time of fruit that I called Maria's attention to the fact that people who ate all these things seemed to be as well as those who did not.

"Maria," I said with a rebellious air, "don't you know the doctors are on the look out for verminiform appendix irrespective of what anyone has eaten or proposes to eat?"

To which Maria replied that "it was well to be on the safe side," meaning, of course, the opposite to the appendix side, and cut all fruit from our table. We had pork and beans occasionally when Maria came across an article in the Lancet or some other medical journal, saying they produced cancer. Instantly we tabooed tomatoes.

Of course, we had known all along that cucumbers and watermelons gave one cholera morbus, so these were entered on the death list early in our house-keeping venture. All this rather limited our diet, but my wife was ingenious and concocted a great many dishes that we felt sure were all right, and we always boiled the drinking water.
